

Pamela Brown is the Vice President of Institutional Research and Academic Planning (IRAP). She began working in the Office of the Provost at University of California Office of the President (UCOP) in November 2013. IRAP produces evidence-based analysis and reports that inform and shape university management, strategic planning, policy, and decision support, including the Annual Accountability Report that reflects the UC's activities and operations through data-driven narratives and data visualizations.

Prior to coming to UCOP, Pamela worked sixteen years at UC Berkeley where her last role was Executive Director of the Office of Planning and Analysis (OPA). In OPA, she partnered with stakeholders and led improvements in the campus reporting and planning environment.

Pamela received her Master's degree from the Graduate School of Public Policy and her B.A. in Applied Mathematics both from the UC Berkeley.
